FACTIONS AT ODDS REGARDING
CLOSING OF OAKDALE SCHOOLS.*Dispute As to Whether School Shall Remain Open or Not Involves Directors and Residents.*MEETING TO BE HELD SATURDAY.

Board of Education contends there are not enough scholars to continue school. But residents say there are.

An important hearing will be conducted by Attorney Lee Smith at the Oakdale school house on Saturday, August 15, when the dispute over the closing of the school house will be taken up and testimony for and against it taken. A notice has been issued to the School Directors of Lower Tyrone township, Henry Davis, Thomas Newell, George Herbert, David H. Wingrove, William P. Hiles and O. E. M. Nicolay, to this effect.

The dispute is a peculiar one and grows out of the decision of the School Board to close the school. The school stands at the corner of Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran's magnificent tract of land, known as St. James Park, and adjoining the property of J. W. McGinnis. It has stood there for upwards of 20 years, and the directors allege that the number of pupils attending it is too small to justify the expense of maintaining it.

On the other hand those who object to the closing of the school state that the law requires a school to be kept open where there is an attendance of 20 scholars, and they allege that the attendance at the school is 26 scholars and therefore the directors should be compelled to keep the school open. It is further alleged that should the school be permanently closed pupils who have heretofore attended and new pupils would have to journey upwards of two miles to the Cunningham or Quay school, and that in a number of cases the distance would be too great for the children to travel.

Those who might attend the Oakdale school from acquiring an education at all.

The dispute has aroused the whole of Dawson and there are two factions at odds. The inspector will take all the testimony offered and will then make his report to the court, where the final disposition of the case will be made.

CAME NEAR BEING A DOUBLE MURDER.

Italian Stabbed With Stiletto Retaliate by Shooting His Assassin Near Meyersdale.

MEYERSDALE, Aug. 11.—What might have been a double murder occurred in the "Little Italy" section of the Somerset Coal Company's settlement at Shaw mines, two miles south of this place, at an early hour yesterday morning. For some time a grudge had existed between Dominick Matzhold and Jim Stefano, and while engaged in drinking and card playing, a dispute arose between the two. The former drew a stiletto and began slashing the other about the sides and shoulders. The latter drew a gun and fired at him, the ball entering the assassin's breast just below the heart and lodged under the shoulder blade.

Deputy Constable James Ritchey was summoned by telephone, but upon his arrival there neither would inform upon the other and were disposed to settle the matter between themselves. Dr. Bruce Lichty removed the bullet from the wounded man's breast and he, as well as the other, is getting along nicely. Both are known as "bad actors" and have frequently paid fines for misconduct in this borough.

CONSTABULARY GO TO OLD HOME WEEK.

Detachment on Way to Berlin to Preserve Order During Celebration at That Place.

A detachment of five State Constables passed through Connellville this morning en route to Berlin, where they have been detailed to do police duty during Old Home Week, which began yesterday. The detachment consisted of Sergeant P. D. Prasher, Private R. O. Ocher, J. C. Nagle, W. W. La Flame and James Beall. Several of the men are well known in Connellville and were greeted by their friends here today.

Old Home Week is now on in full blast at Berlin, and a large number of Connellville people are attending the exercises. No trouble is anticipated there, but as things are very quiet at the barracks at Greensburg, they were sent over there to keep things in shape.

ROBERT EDWIN PRATER.

Robert Edwin Prater, the noted Arctic explorer, has once more started on a determined attempt to reach the North Pole. He has teamed for a point within the Arctic Circle, taking with him two supply ships, and expects to remain within the frozen circle for three years. He is actually reaching the North Pole sooner. Prater, who is an officer in the United States Navy, has for many years been dominated by a single impulse, namely, the reaching of the North Pole, and his last trip gave him the honor of getting further north than any previous explorer. He recently stated that he considered it merely a matter of time, abundant supplies and favorable weather conditions in order to actually reach "Furthest North."

BASEBALL CLUB HAS CLASH WITH WOMAN.

Question of Refreshment Stand and Free Admission May Be Aired.

FENCE HAS BEEN MOVED IN.

Miss Whaley and Management Have Differences and Result is That Stand Was Removed From Ball Park—May Take Legal Action.

A verbal contract, a refreshment stand and a gate are the factors in the Whaley-Connellville Base Ball Club controversy which held the attention of the fans at the last Charleville game, the last game before the Cokers went on the road to West Virginia. The case at present promises to develop into a law suit.

When the question concerning whether she will bring suit against the club was asked her this morning, Miss Whaley said that although she had not as yet fully decided whether to bring suit against the club the chances are that she would.

The history of the case dates back to the early part of the season. Part of the base ball ground belongs to Miss Whaley and the fence encloses a portion of her property. Some time ago a director of the ball club ordered that either the gate leading from the Whaley property to the park be pulled out or the refreshment stand belonging to the Whaley's which has been a fixture at the park be removed on the ground that people were being let through the gate free of charge. Miss Whaley refused to close the gate and the refreshment stand subsequently was carried out. On July 20, Miss Whaley opened the gate and several hundred people saw the game free of charge. On Saturday the fence was removed from its present situation and moved on the property of the base ball club. As far as free attendance is concerned there will hereafter be nothing doing, but the case now threatens to take a legal aspect.

Miss Whaley's contract with the club states that the monthly rental shall be $25 with the privilege of holding it all season. Miss Whaley had already paid $50 for the months of May and June.

"Truly Remarkable County." WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 11.—Of the 64 Counties in Washington county, 56 reported to the court yesterday and not one reported any irregularities with the exception of a few roads. When questioned closely by Judge Taylor each asserted his ballfield was in perfect order. Not an illegal liquor resort, according to them, is in operation. "A truly remarkable county, indeed," was Judge Taylor's comment.

IS INCORRIGIBLE
ALTHOUGH MARRIED.

Father Brings Unusual Charge Against Daughter in Court.

WAS WED AT SEVENTEEN.

Connellville Girl of Twelve Years Was Also Before Court and Is Sent to Morgantown Institution After Being Detained in Jail.

MARRIED for three years and being brought before the court charged with incorrigibility was the unusual case presented this morning to Judge Robert E. Umbel at a short session of court. Mrs. Nellie Addis Dewyre of Brownsville was charged by her father with incorrigibility. She stated that she was 17 years old and that she had been married three years to Thomas Dewyre, but that she had not been living with him for the past two years. She said that she was well able to make her own living and had been doing so and had plenty of work to do. Her father, she said, was aroused to bringing the charge against her because a few days ago she refused to give him a quarter while he was in town. She is a rather attractive young woman and was apparently very honest in her statements, as the court allowed her to go on her own recognizance until September 13, when there will be a session of court to hear the matter of the peace cases, and in the meanwhile the court directed that the woman's character and her actions should be investigated by the County Detectives and a report made of all circumstances, together with the bringing of the father into court.

Another case of incorrigibility was that of Lucy Gulla of Connellville, a 12 year old child, charged by her parents with incorrigibility. She has been in jail for the past two months. The child alleged that her father cruelly treated her and that he had bitten her upon the thumb. A report of County Detective Frank McLaughlin was made on the case and it was found that the child was incorrigible and that she had received the injury while at play. She was committed to Morgantown.

REAPER AND STORK RUN CLOSE RACE.

Statistics Show That Births Exceed Deaths in District by Narrow Margin During Month.

For the first month in a long time the Grim Reaper ran a close race with the stork in Registrar George B. Brown's district. The total number of deaths were 34 and the births 39. For several months past the births have almost doubled the deaths, but the Stork only exceeded the Grim Reaper by five during July.

UNKNOWN MAN DIES.

Stranger Expires in Uniontown Hospital—Foul Play Is Suspected.

UNIONTOWN, August 11.—An unknown man was picked up along the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Chesapeake railroad yesterday afternoon and brought to the hospital here where he died a short time afterward. There is a well grounded suspicion of foul play as the man was apparently in good circumstances, being well dressed and neat in appearance. There was not a cent of money in his pocket. The county authorities are looking up an investigation which they feel sure will develop some information regarding the young man.

ANSWERS FILED SHOWING WHY LICENSE OF LOCAL HOTELS SHOULD BE CONTINUED.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 11.—Answers were filed yesterday by Attorney E. C. Elgbee to show cause why the liquor license for the Trans-Allegheny Hotel held by William G. Marquand and the Victoria Hotel, held by E. O'Connor should not be revoked. The answer on behalf of the Trans-Allegheny hotel is filed by Mrs. Mary D. Newmyer, owner of the property. She states that she has been the owner of the hotel for 10 years but that it has been conducted as a hotel for 28 years. Regarding the small number of names upon the register she declares that the hotel accommodated a large number of people, but that many were boarders there they did not have their names upon the register daily.

Mrs. Newmyer continues that she believes the rule was issued on account of the interior condition of the hotel and states that her lease with Marquand required him to keep the hotel in repair. She states that she is now making extensive improvements to the hotel property, including the installation of a laundry and the overhauling of the plumbing and toilet accommodations. A new floor is to be placed in the office. Mrs. Newmyer states that she has agreed with John S. Christy, trustee in bankruptcy for Marquand, to charge no rent during the period of making the improvements and she has also agreed to give a five year lease to whomsoever Marquand sells out at an annual rental of $2,400.

W. G. Marquand states in his answer

STOLEN CHICKENS AT FAREWELL DINNER.

South Connellville Boys Arrested for Larceny of Fowl Eaten at Parting Meal.

Walter Pryor was arrested yesterday at New Salem and brought to the Connellville police station charged with the larceny of 10 chickens from the coop of Theodore Groh, of South Connellville, by Constable I. Painter Crossland.

It is alleged that Pryor with a number of other South Connellville young men went into the coop and took the chickens, and that they were dressed and relished by several of the party. Some of the chickens, it is said, were used to cook good palatable lunches for three South Connellville boys who were returning to the army and their friends decided to give them a send off.

A hearing will be given Pryor this afternoon before Magistrate S. S. Korn of South Connellville. It is probable that other arrests will occur in connection with the robbery.

SOMERSET METHODISTS.

They Will Hold Annual Reunion at Rockwood Next Week.

ROCKWOOD, Aug. 11.—A record-breaking attendance is expected at the annual reunion of the Methodists of Somerset county next week at the grove at Rockwood, Tuesday, August 13. As many inquiries have reached the management regarding entertainment for the day, the ladies of the Rockwood church have again consented to serve a hot lunch at a nominal price for those who do not care to bring a basket.

Continued delight is expressed with the selection of the well-known and highly appreciated Dr. Wedderburn of Pittsburg as the chief speaker of the day.

PREACHER HIDES BEHIND SKIRTS.

Woman's Mother Declares Minister Has Used Daughter's Reputation As His Shield.

HURLOCK, Md., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Thomas Carew, who thoroughly thrashed the Rev. Stephen P. Shipman, pastor of the M. E. Church here, with his wife, now on file in the circuit court a petition for absolute divorce from his wife. Shipman's excuse was "Woman tempted me," and his declaration that he repudiated her when she came into his room at the hotel of night are declared to be a lie by Mrs. Carew.

Beyond that denial she would not talk when interviewed, but her mother, Mrs. Todd, denies that her daughter was a temptress.

"Shame on Shipman," she said, "the man must be a coward who will get behind the skirts of a woman to save himself. The world will never know the truth of this story for neither my daughter nor myself will be witnesses at the divorce suit."

CHINAMEN ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF VALUABLE LOT OF GINSENG.

Root Stolen Amounting to Thousands of Dollars But Celestials Prove They Are Not Guilty.

FRANK HARRIS HITECOCK.

Frank Harris Hitecock, who will manage Fair's campaign for the Presidency, and who has been elected Chairman of the Republican National Committee, is a comparatively young man, with a habit of doing things in a successful way. Hitecock handled Fair's campaign for the nomination, and he succeeded in placing Fair in the White House. He was born at Amherst, N. Y., on October 5, 1867, and was sent to Union College, where he graduated in 1890. He was then employed by the American Express Company, and later went to the Columbia University Law School. He finally became First Assistant Postmaster General. He is a prime favorite of Mr. Roosevelt, who really put him in charge of Fair's campaign.

CHANGES BOOKED FOR WEST PENN.

Report That There Will Be Several Transfers This Month.

MANY DEPARTMENTS EFFECTED.

Some of Old Employees Will Go to Pittsburgh With Kuhn Interests, It Is Said—Minor Changes Also to Be Made.

FEW ATTENDED FIRE DEPARTMENT MEETING.

South Connellville Will Make Another Effort This Evening to Organize Volunteer Fire Fighters.

A number of important changes are scheduled to take place in the West Penn. Railways and the West Penn. Electric Company on August 15. Miss Jane McHugh, who has been stenographer for General Manager G. R. Folds, has resigned her position in that office and will accept a position in the office of W. E. Moore, former General Manager, now consulting engineer of all the Kuhn interests in Pittsburgh. Miss McHugh is spending her vacation at Ohioville and upon its termination she will go to Pittsburgh. She has been employed in the office for a number of years and is regarded as a most competent young lady.

No official announcement has been made, but it is probable that Miss Crete Lane will take her position and that Miss Mame Conway will be a new stenographer and clerk.

The lighting department under General Superintendent L. H. Conklin will also undergo some changes. E. E. Spanchich will leave that department and also take up work in the office of W. E. Moore. E. D. Fawcett is to be placed on the road as traveling representative, while there is no announcement as to who will succeed those two in the lighting department. These changes will take away from the office employees who have been connected with it for a number of years and who are familiar with all the details.

It is stated that a number of minor changes are also contemplated, and the general force of employees may be curtailed in the West Penn. building, but that no old employees will be let out, as they will be transferred to new positions and these made vacant by their transfer will be combined in a manner to effect a saving.

It is stated that no official announcement of the changes are to be made before August 15, but the rumors concerning the changes have been the talk of a number of officials.

FOUND BURGLAR IN HOUSE.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Margaret Rouse of Mr. Vernon avenue went across the street last evening to talk to a neighbor. When she returned she found all of the light out. As she groped her way through the hall she ran into a man. He threw her to the floor and escaped.

WERE BUYERS THEMSELVES.

Root Is Sent to China and Men Were Here Buying It—They Claim for Pittsburg Friends—Details of Theft Meagre.

Ya Sang and Charlie Woo, two Chinamen, were arraigned before Magistrate Frank Miller this morning charged with the larceny of ginseng from T. W. Fleming. The Chinamen appeared for trial with half a dozen of their comrades and easily proved that they were not guilty of the charge and were discharged and the costs assessed the county. One of the Chinamen exhibited a bag of ginseng root containing about 10 pounds and valued at $50.

They stated and proved that they had been buying ginseng at various times from mountain people and were making an effort to secure a big cargo for a Pittsburg Chinaman to take back to the old country with them, but all their deals were legal and what they had purchased was taken up in a legal way.

The value of ginseng and the number of people engaged in securing it developed at the trial. Some estimated its value at $15 per pound while others placed a lower value upon it, according to whether they were buyers or sellers, but that it was valuable and that the entire output of it went to China seemed assured. It seems that the opium extracted from it and the medicinal qualities of the roots were responsible for its cost.

T. W. Fleming, the prosecutor in the case, is one of the best known ginseng gatherers in Western Pennsylvania and had practically devoted his entire life to it. Its storage and the drying of it has become a profession with him and the loss of a very little amount means considerable money.

No details were given as to the names of the men taken from him, but it is rumored that the steal amounted to several thousand dollars. It is not likely that he will ever locate his stolen ginseng.

FEW ATTENDED FIRE DEPARTMENT MEETING.

South Connellville Will Make Another Effort This Evening to Organize Volunteer Fire Fighters.

Lack of interest put a damper on the meeting held in the office of W. S. Ringer last night to discuss the ways and means of the formation of a volunteer fire department for South Connellville. The promoters are not discouraged however and active steps are being taken by the committee in charge, composed of Leslie Brown, Sr., W. S. Ringer and Burt Marshall, to get the people of Connellville's active little suburb busy.

For some time the plan has been in the making and it is the first time that any decided action has been taken. Another meeting is called for tonight at the office of W. S. Ringer and every citizen of South Connellville interested in the fire protection of the town is urged to be present.

South Connellville at present is without any immediate fire protection and the town is solely dependent on Connellville. During the past several years several disastrous fires have occurred in the town which would have been easy affairs to handle if the town had a local department. Some time ago a fire took place of hose was bought and this has been donated to the proposed fire department.

School Board Meets.
The Scottdale Board of Education held a meeting Monday night in their offices in the Chestnut street building and paid a number of bills. The matter of increasing the amount of insurance on the Pittsburgh street building was brought up by the Committee on Buildings and Grounds, composed of Messrs. Escher, Kulster, Markle, Hess, Sherrick and Loucks. They advised that the insurance be increased, but did not want to carry this out without submitting the question to the board. The present insurance is only $15,000 on the building and $2,000 on its contents. On the building $8,000 will be added and $2,000 on contents. The new books, supplies, furniture, etc., in the building and their value the board feels are worth more than has been on them. It was the sense of the board that the insurance be divided among the agents of town, after the manner that the borough insurance is given out instead of to a couple of agents. There was a discussion of the board on the formulation of a set of rules to govern the work of the janitors of the two buildings, and these will be compiled for their guidance in addition to the ones now published in the course of study. Tax Collector S. B. McMillan's report was read by Treasurer J. L. Reynolds and showed $2,812.30 taxes for the month of July. The members of the board present were President R. P. Peroy, J. L. Reynolds, Dr. G. L. Markle, Dr. O. I. Hess, D. L. Sherrick, J. R. Loucks and J. O. Loudenberger.

Was the Best Game.

The City league game between the Firemen and Casket and Crescents last evening was by long odds the best of the season. The C. & C. scored the only run of the game in the fifth inning on an error by their opponents. Guest for the Firemen had ten strikeouts in the six innings played, allowing the C. & C. boys but two hits. Denniker for the C. & C. also pitched a good game, only three safes being made off him and his support was steady in tight places. The score:

C. & C. .... 0 0 0 0 1 0—1 2 3
Batteries: Firemen, Guest and Markle; C. & C., Denniker and Doolley. Umpires: Jarrett and Hewitson.

Visited the Roycoffers.

Albert J. Strickler of the Savings & Trust Company and J. L. Townsend of Murphy & Company, arrived home Monday morning from a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. While they were there they spent a day at East Aurora, the home of the Roycoffers, the directing head of the community being Elbert Hubbard, whose articles are a feature of The Courier. They met Mr. Hubbard, or Mr. Albertus, as he calls himself, and at the suggestion of Scottdale Mr. Hubbard told of a number of pleasant experiences while he lectured here for the Peterson Business College a year ago. Mr. Strickler and Mr. Townsend say that the home of the Roycoffers was one of the most interesting and beautiful places they were at during their trip and advise anyone going to that section to be sure to visit East Aurora. The town is on a little branch railroad a few miles out of Buffalo, and of the score of people who got off the train, only two stopped in the village. The other visitors were all bound for the Roycoffers.

Of a Personal Nature.

Weddell, chief clerk of the Union Supply Company, left on Monday for a several days' visit to Lake Macauley. D. B. Coulter, who has been visiting his son, D. A. Coulter, left yesterday for his home in Vandergrift.

To Operate Somerset Field.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 11.—The Messrs. Boswell of Baltimore, who organized the Merchants' Coal company, formed the town of Boswell and recently sold out their holdings for about $2,000,000 to the United Coal Company of Pittsburgh, are now organizing the Boswell Company, which will operate in the Somerset field, outside of Edward T. ## In Social Circles.

Busy Fall Social Season.
The effect of Dog Days is clearly apparent in Connellsville society. The late summer quietness is on. Many people are out of the city and those who are at home are living quietly and there is little doing in a social way at the present. The first of the fall campaign being inaugurated and September promises to be a busy month in a social way. By the middle of the month the majority of the vacation and resort seekers will again be at home, and there are several affairs being arranged. There will be a large dance given at the home of a well known club, the different social clubs will resume and everything points to a season of more than usual activity.

Endeavors to Meet.
The meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at the United Brethren church will convene this evening at the home of Anthony Tappin in South Connellsville. An instructive and pleasant gathering is anticipated.

To Camp Along Cheat River.
Preparations are being made by a large number of well known young men of this place to camp along the Cheat river. The party, which will number about a dozen, will leave on Monday with a number of tents, camp equipment and servants, and be away for two weeks.

Theatre Attaches Entertained.
Sixteen employees and performers of the Bijou Theatre were entertained by Manager Ben Smith at Charles Holston's summer home along the Breakneck road Sunday afternoon. An enjoyable lunch was served during the day, and during the afternoon the many visitors were entertained with music and vaudeville stunts. The affair was a most pleasant and happy one.

Ball Will Be Big Event.
One of the largest balls of the summer season will take place at the Armory on Tuesday evening when the visiting Knights of Pythias will be entertained at a dance from 8 until 2 o'clock. The local organization has arranged this as one of the features of the big convention, and in addition to the many visitors there will be many local people present. Invitations to the number of 200 have been sent out. The music will be furnished by an augmented orchestra, and the function promises to be a decided success.

THEY ONLY WENT ALONG.

Minister Says That Uniontown Colored People Were Not Part of Picnic.
While the Uniontown colored people accompanied the Connellsville and New Haven colored Methodists upon their picnic to Caledonia park yesterday they were really not a part of the picnic. The Rev. C. R. Groggin of the New Haven church this morning made a statement to that effect. When it had been learned that they had sold tickets and chartered cars they were allowed to accompany the local delegation. The Uniontown party wanted to dance, but their repeated efforts were frustrated by the pastor, who would not allow the pavilion to be opened.

Tax Collector George B. Brown last evening turned over to G. H. Hall, Treasurer of the School Board, $8,000, which will relieve the stringency of that body and allow them to meet the current bills which have been accumulating. It has been discovered that a new law requires the Tax Collector to turn over to the School Board monthly his collections instead of turning them in at certain periods as provided in an old law, and this method will be followed in the future by Tax Collector George B. Brown.

TO EXAMINE WITNESSES.

LOYALISTS TAKE CITY.

Tahriz Again Captured and Revolutionaries Are Routed.
VIENNA, Aug. 11.—(Cable.)—After the bloodiest fighting that has yet marked the long series of clashes between the Tahriz revolutionaries and Loyalists, the latter have again captured the city and are in complete control, according to a message received today from Tehoran, the Persian capital.

Such Loyalists who had been encamped without the city attacked the revolutionary strongholds with determination when they learned that the army of young Turks on the horizon were only waiting for word from Constantinople to rush to the aid of the revolutionists. The success of the attack and complete rout of the Shah's enemies has strengthened the Shah's determination to resist the Turkish interference to the last.

WOMAN'S POWER

The healthy woman; strong mentally and physically, whose ambition and magnetic influence urge men to deeds of grandeur and heroism; such women are all-powerful. Weak, sick and ailing women have little ambition; their own troubles occupy all their thoughts. They dwell upon their pains, suffer from nervousness and headaches; often are extremely melancholy, and avoid society. For thirty years

Anty Drudge Explains Why.

Mrs. Don't-care—"Yes, but soap is soap, and it doesn't matter which we use."

Anty Drudge—"Yes, and medicine is medicine, but it does matter which kind you take. And it is the same way with soap. Some will do the work and some won't. I know from experience that Fels-Naptha is the only kind of soap that will wash things clean in cold or lukewarm water. It isn't just soap; it is a different and easier way of washing."

"Soap is soap" said a woman. Her only idea of soap was something to mix with hot water in order to make a steaming suds. She thought it didn't matter which kind she used—and it didn't.

But if she had used Fels-Naptha in the way it should be used, in cold or lukewarm water, she would have learned that Fels-Naptha is not only a soap but a different way of washing.

A sewing machine is of no use to a woman who doesn't know how to use it. Neither is any other labor-saving device.

Before you use a cake of Fels-Naptha, then, read carefully the directions printed on the back of the red and green wrapper. The directions will tell you how to make Fels-Naptha do the hardest part of your washing, without hot fires, without steaming suds, without boiling or back-breaking hard labor. It will save your clothes, save time, save fuel, save your health and the clothes will be cleaner and whiter than ever before.

But not unless

Dear Reader—If you will ever feel that you simply have to love a girl, the girl you will love will be just like Lady Betty Bulkeley, sister of the Duke of Stanforth. You will love Lady Betty even if you are the staunchest of Yankees, with an inherited suspicion of the English, for she will snuggle down, in spite of yourself, in the cozy corner of your inmost heart. She is the sunshine of her own pleasant Surrey meads, added to the moonlight glinting on the surface of the Hudson she found so admirable. We have sent many of our fair maids abroad, and the balance of trade in this respect is heavily in England's favor, but we should immediately let down all bars, tariff or other, that prevent more sweethearts like Lady Betty from coming "across the water."

Chapter I

DON'T know yet whether I'm pleased or not, but I do know that I'm excited—more excited than I've ever been in my life, except perhaps when Miss Mackintosh, my last governess, had hysterics in the schoolroom and fainted among the tea things.

I suppose I shan't be able to decide about the state of my feelings until I've had more of them on the same subject or until I've written down in this book of mine everything exactly as it's happened. I like doing that. It makes things seem so clear when you try to review them afterward.

The excitement began at breakfast by mother having a letter that she liked. I knew she liked it by the way her eyes lighted up, as if they had been lamps and the letter a match. All the other letters, mostly with her old, trudging, looking envelope, which had been making her quite glowy, she pushed aside.

Mother won't have a crown on her envelopes. She thinks it's vulgar. Besides, putting it only on the paper saves expense. This envelope had a great ornate gold crest, but she didn't seem to care for it. She read on and on, then suddenly glanced up as if she would have said something quickly to Victoria. She didn't say it, though, for she remembered me. I am never taken into family confidences because I'm not out yet. Her next words were, "I've had a letter from Victoria."

Victoria? What? What? I'm not to be allowed to come out till after Vic's married, because she was presented four years ago and isn't even engaged yet. So for all I can tell I may have to stay in till I'm a hundred and out slowly, when I'm nearly as old as Vic's girls do in the middle classes. This time I didn't mind, however, for I couldn't see how the letter concerned me, and as I was dying for a sight of Berengaria's puppies, which were born last night, I was glad when mother told me not to fidget after I'd finished breakfast, but to run down to the kennels if I liked.

Soon I forgot all about the letter, for the puppies were the dearest ducks on earth (can puppies be ducks, I wonder?), and besides, it was such a delicious day morning and I could have danced with joy because I was allowed to go out.

I often feel like that. But there's nobody to tell, except the trees and the dogs and my poor pony, who is almost too old and second childish now to understand. She was my brother Stanforth's pony first of all, and Stanforth is "dead right." Then she was Vic's, and Vic is—well, mother doesn't like Vic's age to be mentioned any more, though she is years younger than Sam.

I took a walk in the park and afterward went through the rose garden to see how the bees were getting on. There were a lot of petals for my pot-pourri, and gathering them has kept me for some time. Then as the jar stands in Vic's and my den (she calls it her den, but it has to be part mine, as I have no other), I was going in by one of the long windows when I heard mother's voice. "What's that?" she was saying, "what's to be done with Betty?"

I turned around and ran away on my tiptoes across the lawn, for I didn't want to be an eavesdropper, and it would be nearly as bad to have mother know I was eavesdropping. She would be angry, and mother calls me all the way through to my house when she's annoyed. It is wonderful how she does it, for she never scolds. But the thermometer simply drops to freezing point, and you feel like a poor little shivering dove. That was up to me, for I was so sure to find the world covered with snow and no hope of sneaking back into its own cozy warm bulb again.

I stopped out of doors till luncheon and played croquet against myself, wishing the Sun would run down, for either way I rather fancy being myself as a gorgeous person since poor father's death gave him the title, he is quite nice to me when it occurs to him. I'm always glad when he comes to the Towers, but he hardly ever does in the season, and then in August and September he's always in Scotland. So is Vic, for the matter of that, and she hates being in the country in May and June, though Surrey is so close to town that luckily she doesn't miss much. But this year we seem to have been horribly poor for some reason. Vic says it's Sam's fault. He is extravagant, I suppose. However, as everything is really his, I don't see that we ought to complain. Only it can't be pleasant for him to feel that mother is scolding him for being so poor, and making her a trumpy dowager before we two girls are off her hands.

At luncheon mother mentioned to me that she had wired to ask Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox and her cousin, Miss Sally Woodburn, down to dinner and stay the night. "You will be pleased, Betty, as you like Miss Woodburn so much," she said.

"I like her, but I don't like Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox, and I don't know how to pronounce her," said I.

"For goodness' sake, don't call her Mrs. Ess Kay to her face again," cut in Vic.

"I didn't mean to. It slipped out," I defended myself. "Besides it was you who nicknamed her that."

"Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox is a very charming person and a thorough woman of the world," mother asserted in that very abso of saying the word which you had better leave for the last if you know what is good for you. I did leave it for the last so far as answering was concerned, but inside, where, thank goodness, even her eyes can't see, I was wondering how I could mother and forward that deterring opinion. A fortnight ago I heard her announce that Americans "got upon her nerves," and she hoped she would not soon be called upon to meet any more. As she had made this remark directly after bidding Mrs. Ess Kay goodbye, I naturally supposed that lady to be the immediate cause for it. But now it seemed this was not the case.

"You would be very ungrateful if you disliked her," mother went on, "as she took such a tremendous fancy to you."

"Dear me, I didn't know that!" I exclaimed, opening my eyes wide. "I thought it was Vic who—"

"You are her favorite, as you are with Miss Woodburn also," said mother, who gets the effect of being so tremendously dignified, partly, I believe, from supposing that lady to be the cause of her disliking me. I am asking them down again especially on your account, and I want you to be particularly nice to them."

"It's easy enough to be nice to Sally Woodburn," I said, looking from Vic and broke off my sentence, hurrying to change it into another. "As they're sailing for the States so soon, I shan't have time to spread myself much."

"Don't be slangy, Betty. It doesn't suit you," said mother. "You pick up too many things from Stanforth."

"Trust him not to drop anything worth having," interpolated Vic, which was pert. But mother never reproves her.

"Perhaps Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox and Miss Woodburn won't come," I said for the sake of getting on safer ground.

"Not come? Of course they will come. It is short notice, but if they have other engagements they will break them," returned mother. And though it would be as impossible for her to be vulgar or snobbish as it would for a tall white armilly to be either of these things, still I couldn't help feeling that her unconscious thought was, "The invitation to a couple of unknowns touring Americans from the Duchess of Stanforth is equivalent to my receiving a royal command."

Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox was probably right, anyhow so far as Mrs. Ess Kay is concerned. As for Sally Woodburn, I don't think she has a drop of snobbish blood in her veins. She's southern—not South American, as I was stupid enough to think at first, but from some southern state or other, Kentucky, I believe it is. She's short and plump, and olive and smooth as ivory satin, with soft, lazy brown eyes, a voice like rich cream, a smile which says, "Please like me," and pretty, crinkly dark hair that is beginning to glitter with silver needles.

work here and there, though she isn't exactly old, even for a woman, perhaps about thirty.

I knew that Miss Woodburn rather fancied me, and I was quite pleased to take her up to her room when she and her elder cousin arrived about an hour before dinner. I stopped for a few minutes and then left her with her maid, while I went to help Vic and get myself ready. We've only one maid between the three of us now—days, which means (unless there's some reason why Vic should be made particularly smart that mother gets more than a third of Thompson's services. That's as it should be, of course, and we don't grudge it. But Vic's rather helpless, and I always have to hurry to see her through.

This evening, though, I found Thompson in Vic's room, next to mine, and just as I suddenly discovered my arms in Vic's, her face, which I had seen up behind, mother came in. "Betty," she said, quite playfully for her, "I have a very pleasant surprise for you. You would never be able to guess, so I will tell you. I have consented to let you go and visit Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox and Miss Woodburn in America. About your delight—"

I felt as if the wall of the house were tumbling down and I would presently be crumpled up underneath.

"My goodness gracious, mother!" I managed to stammer, forgetting how I've always said in awe of her, "my goodness gracious, mother!"

"Of course you will like it," I said, with pleasant companions and see a great, new country with such lovely scenery is an immense privilege, a very unusual privilege for a young girl," mother replied promptly. "As for the 'why,' you are going because you have been cordially invited; because I think the experience will be for your advantage, present and future; because also it will be good for a growing girl like you to have the bracing effect of a sea voyage."

"Mother, I haven't a thing the matter with me, and I haven't given the least of an inch this whole time. You can see by my cheeks," I protested, more on principle than because it would be of any use to protest or because I was much more wanted to change her mind. Naturally the prospect had no effect, but mother's mood miraculously changed, and she didn't give me a single freezing look.

"Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox is a woman of good family and position in her own country," she went on. "I have satisfied myself on these points beyond all doubt. I should also like to have you to be her guest. She has a cottage at Newport and will take you there, as summer, it seems, is not the season in New York. You may stay with her through July and August—over for September, if you are anxious to go yet. Later Mrs. Stuyvesant-Knox will send you home with friends of hers, who can be trusted to take good care of you. She knows several people, she tells me, who are crossing in the autumn to winter abroad, and they would bring you to me. Of course I should have to be nice to them by way of showing my appreciation of any trouble you had given, but a dinner and a Saturday to Monday at most would be quite enough."

So it was all arranged, even to the details of my homecoming and the price to be paid for returning me, like a parcel, to my owner! Suddenly I remembered the words I had overheard at the window of the den. "The question is what is to be done with Betty?"

Mother had evidently been so anxious to have the question answered that she had at once taken measures to settle it. But why should anything be done with her? Nothing ever had been so far, except when I was sent last autumn to stop with my aunt, and she was so much annoyed because my Cousin Lordward came home unexpectedly that after that I could do nothing to settle her. But was should anything be done with her? ## COKERS GO TEN INNINGS WITH FAIRMONT AND TAKE SMALL END.

After having their paws on the game long enough to kiss it good-bye, the Cokers allowed the Fairmont Babblers to run away with an unearned victory 7 to 3. It was Connellsville's game throughout, the Cokers putting up a much superior article of ball than the Mountaineers. Unus Arundel was the attraction in the middle of the diamond, and while he helped the Babblers considerably, he was also generous and gave several decisions to the Coko Heavers.

Blanchard did stunts for Our Own while Cromley, noted throughout the circuit as the national bank twirler, caused the boys from the Smoke Tower to look foolish. Blanchard succeeded more than Cromley, for the lanky one was touched up for nine hits while the Gracie boys gathered up but eight. Connellsville, however, made four misplays and thereby hangs the tale.

A little bone-head work on the part of Cromley in the middle of the game caused no little amusement. Mit Montgomery was the cause and Cromley will over stop and cuss when the sly one's name is mentioned. It was this wise: The Cokers were two runs to the bad in the sixth inning and Francis led off with an air snatcher. Johnny Yodt was not yet through dreaming about the three bangles he made the other day and hit long one to Keener. Wallace then went to Fisher's road house on tour bad ones and Tiffany followed it up with a single, Francis scoring and sending Wallace to third. Tiffany then proceeded to parlor second. Sweeney hit a long one to middle and Wallace romped home. Tiffany took third on the sacrifice and on a close decision was called safe by Arundel. Immediately the whole Fairmont team, without time having been called, gathered around the arbitrator, demanding that he either change the decision or lose his life. Manager Mit then ambled out on the field and said to Cromley, who was holding the ball: "Boy, big fellow, give me a catch." The national bank pitcher did as requested and Montgomery stepped aside, the ball traveling to the ropes. Tiffany clung to the third base, however, and was finally pushed off by "Sunny" Price, who sent him starting toward home. Cromley made haste after the ball, and in an effort to catch Tiffany at home, threw wild, the first sacker coming home with the leading run.

Two heart-breaking ninth and tenth innings settled Connellsville. A gentleman traveling under the name of Keener, who had been making trouble all through the game, again stepped into the limelight in these innings. In the ninth he led off with a screaming double, took third when Blinn attempted to get him at third after Parker had hit to short and came home on the same play. That tied the score and was enough to break our hearts, but in the tenth he again did the shady work. Gore was given a pass and King sent him on his way with an altar play. Snodgrass flew out to Calhoun and Keener sent a nasty one to Yodt, who threw wild to first, Gore scoring and Keener taking second. Parker then connected and Keener came across. Calhoun singled for the Cokers in the tenth but was out when he tried to take second, when Yodt fouled out to Gates. The score:

CRUIGER KNOCKED OUT OF BOX.

Uniontown's Star Twirler Pounded Upon by Grafton But Garlies Win. UNIONTOWN, Aug. 11.—Although overwhelmed by an 11 to 4 score, the Grafton Wanderers yesterday had the satisfaction of knocking the great and only Abe Kruger out of the box. The mighty one was hit all over the lot, but as usual had all the luck and is credited with another victory. Twelve hits apiece were made by the two teams, but the Onions' swats came with men on the circuit. Schettler succeeded Kruger and had an easy time of it. At no time was the German in danger. McVane did the hill stunts for the West Virginians. Two wild pegs by Judy Lawton helped materially to the Onions' large score. The score:

GAME WAS FORFEITED.

Crescents Given Contest When White Sox Leave Field.

With the score 5 to 0 in favor of the Crescents, the White Sox team of the South Connellsville league withdrew their men from the field, and the game was duly forfeited to the Crescents. This game puts the Crescents on the heels of the Power House, league leaders and shows the White Sox team to be for lost place with the South Connellsville club.

Trenberth for the Crescents had the White Sox big stickers standing on their heads in an effort to locate the sphere and at no time were the White Sox dangerous. Vague rumors of the launching of the tin can brigade have been about, as the manager of the White Sox will not stand for a losing team. South Connellsville and the Power House meet this evening.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Lock Haven State Normal School has large dormitories, its rooms will all be taken for the fall term beginning September 7th. This is an indication of the extreme in which this splendid school is held by the young people of this State. It has a first class equipment, a fine faculty and an ideal location. Expenses are moderate. Address the Principal for illustrated catalogue.

A Half Price Remnant Sale

A Three-Day Sale that will clean-up every odd lot and short length in the store.

JUST because a lot is small or few in number, doesn't deteriorate the value of that particular merchandise to you. It does to us, with merchandise of the coming season demanding every inch of shelf and counter room. These remnants have been accumulating for six months. The residue of a retailing business—the volume of which has increased over that of the corresponding period of 1907, despite the decline of industrial activity throughout this region. Everything displayed under a Remnant ticket will be sold at exactly Half Price. The most forcible reduction we've ever made. In every department you'll find bright seasonable merchandise marked just half. There are hundreds upon hundreds of Remnants, but three days' selling at such remarkable prices will accomplish a complete clearance. We've set aside three days as Remnant Days,

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday,
August 11th, 12th and 13th.

Everything marked Remnants will be Half Price, and there will be hundreds of such tickets through the store.
